

Voice Your Choice!

Calling all librarians, teachers and booksellers to set up
Children's & Teen Choice Book Award voting booths!

Voting for the 11th Annual Children's & Teen Choice Book Awards runs from March 1 to May 6.

You can have kids read the 5 finalists in their age group over the next 2 months and then enter votes as a class or group online at EveryChildaReader.net by May 6. Kids can also vote online, with no personal information requested.

A booth is easy to make! The 13" high test-taking screens are available at most office or educational supply stores. It can then be decorated with Voting signs we've made and posted online at EveryChildaReader.net

NOTE: Every school, library or store who sends us their receipt for their cardboard screen and a photo or two after voting ends May 6 - or by email to cbc.info@cbcbooks.org - will receive 4 free books this summer/next fall (your choice) when our high school intern starts.

About the Children's & Teen Choice Book Awards

The awards were launched in 2008 as the only national book awards voted on only by kids and teens, providing young people with an opportunity to cast a vote and "voice their choice." The children's award finalists were chosen in pre-voting by thousands of children from different regions of the U.S., with supervision by the International Literacy Association. Teens nominated their favorite books of the year at TeenReads.com.
