

AYESHA CURRY

Ayesha Curry is a chef, restaurateur, New York Times Bestselling author, and television host, recently named one of the newest faces of Covergirl cosmetics, and featured on the prestigious 30 Under 30 list by Forbes Magazine. Her accessible approach to cooking has made her one of the most sought after experts in food and lifestyle, and has amassed over 8 million avid social media followers and subscribers.

In 2016, she wrote her national bestseller, The Seasoned Life, sharing over 100 of her favorite family recipes, with highlights such as Mama Alexander's Brown Sugar Chicken, Smoked Salmon Scramble, Homemade Granola and Stephen's 5 Ingredient Pasta.

Ayesha's TV career began when she hosted Ayesha's Home Kitchen, her own series on Food Network. Since then, she has put on her EP hat and helped produce and host ABC's Family Food Fight, a brand new culinary competition show, due out this year. She is a frequent guest on the Rachael Ray Show, Today Show, Good Morning America, a columnist for Woman's Day Magazine and has been featured on the cover of Better Homes and Gardens and Parents Magazine; and is a go-to lifestyle expert in top lifestyle print and online publications including Food and Wine, ELLE, Vogue, Forbes, Time, InStyle, People, Vanity Fair, USA Today, Essence, POPSUGAR, Refinery29, Elite Daily and Sunset Magazine.

In 2017, Ayesha launched an eponymous line of cookware and bakeware which is available at retailers nationwide, with a portion of all proceeds donated to No Kid Hungry. She has since expanded her catalog of products for the home by releasing a line of kitchen textiles, a signature bedding collection, a line of indoor gardening products and jewelry. In the spring of 2017, Ayesha released her meal kit delivery Service, Homemade, featuring family inspired meals developed by Ayesha herself. The company caught the interest of grocery retailers and Ayesha will be unveiling her mealkit through a major retailer later this month, making it more accessible to everyone.

Ayesha teamed up with iconic chef and restaurateur Michael Mina, to create International Smoke, a restaurant concept featuring elevated barbecue dishes from around the globe. They have three locations currently open to the public in San Francisco, Hawaii, and Houston, with plans to open several more throughout the next few years.

She is an ambassador for No Kid Hungry, an organization working to end childhood hunger. She is also a contributing partner to Team FNV, an initiative spearheaded by Michelle Obama which aims to promote a healthy lifestyle by incorporating more fruits and vegetables into the diet.

Ayesha is a busy mom to three kids, Riley, Ryan, and Canon, and wife to Stephen Curry, currently residing in the San Francisco Bay Area.