

Calling all Book Creators

Celebrate Children's Book Week with us, May 2-8

We invite authors and illustrators of books for young people to join in our weeklong celebration of books and reading! Our theme for 2022 is How Do You Book?. We cannot wait to see what, how, and where kids read.

There are so many ways for you to be involved. Here are a few ideas!

VIRTUAL AND IN-PERSON EVENTS

- Connect with your local schools, libraries, and bookstores to explore the possibility of a virtual or in-person event.
- Host your own virtual event on a social media platform.
- Make sure that your publisher knows about any public events you might be a part of during the week so they can submit those for inclusion in an online roundup list!

Make sure that your publisher knows about any public events you might be a part of during the week so they can submit those for inclusion in our virtual event list online!

TELL US HOW YOU BOOK AND CHALLENGE OTHERS

We are asking young people across the country to think about how they “book” and you can do the same. What do you read? Where do you read? How do you read? Check out our Challenge for more details.

During Children's Book Week, May 2 - 8, tell the world how you book via your social media channels and challenge others to share their declaration too! You can share how you book in a number of ways.

- A written declaration
- A short video
- A drawing
- A poem
- A photo
- Anything else you can think of that is social media appropriate

You can also answer the question for one of your characters!

Make sure to use #HowDoYouBook in all your posts and tag The Children's Book Council when possible. Don't forget to challenge your friends, colleagues, and family. Tag specific people in your posts and ask them to answer with their own How Do You Book Declaration.