

Since 1919, Children's Book Week has been celebrated in homes, libraries, bookstores, and schools across the country. This November, join in the fun and celebrate children's books and a joy of reading with your family & friends.

Learn more about Children's Book Week at EveryChildaReader.net

Children's Book Week Nov 6-12.
Celebrate by Using
#ReadBooksSparkChange!

- Read aloud with family and friends. Enlist family and friends to pick their favorite book and host an in-person or video chat for different people to read their book aloud.
- Use the poster, book week challenge, bookmarks, drawing instructions, and all of the fun printables available on the Every Child a Reader website.
- Looking for activities relating to some of your favorite books? Check out these free resources from publishers.
- Connect with your local library or bookstore or school. Find out how they are celebrating and how you can join.
- Follow the instructions and draw the characters that the amazing Book Week illustrators have provided.

- Challenge yourself, your family, and friends to read lots of different books during the week. Use the Find Your Spark Challenge as a guide.
- Find videos and opportunities to connect with book creators online or in-person during story-times, drawing sessions, Q&A's and more. Hop on your favorite social media platform and search #ReadBooksSparkChange.
- Have a book character costume party. Dress up as your favorite children's book characters and have a party.

There are so many ways to celebrate at home and connecting with your community.

These are just a few ideas to start you off!