

BOOKS MAKE ME ASK QUESTIONS,

MEG EDEN KUYATT

and I love questions

because when I ask

and

and imagine
and untangle my thoughts,
I get to be part of the story.

I love that books
let me ask questions like:

What would I do if I was there?

What if this person
isn't that different from me?

What if I tried this, too?

Or looked at my world
from another angle?

How can I
be brave and kind
like my favorite characters?

What good change
can I bring
right where I am?

Who do I want to be?

And what is my story?

Questions make me feel like
my ideas matter.

They remind me
that I am full of possibilities.
I can make a difference.
I get to decide
how to write my own story.

WHAT?!?!?!?!?

HOW???????

ACTIVITY IDEA

Write a poem made only of questions. What questions are you asking? What questions do books inspire you to ask? There are no bad questions—keep writing, whatever comes into your mind. Be curious!non-resale use.
